More Bad Girls
No Cosmic Sabbath

It is announced that Washington will arrange to send one million bales of surplus American cotton to Germany and Belgium, to be sold for in American money at a fair price to the growers.

For this effort to solve the cotton problem the South may thank President Harding. When he was at Saint Augustine, before the inauguration, he told this and other reporters of his deep interest in the great problem of the South. And later, commenting on a publication in Mr. Hamilton's August Chronicle, he wrote to this writer, expressing his determination to do everything possible to help the South in the disaster caused by the crash in cotton prices.

The only solution, of course, is to help Americans sell in Central Europe, which would gladly use and needs all our excess for its life mills.

Telegram. (Chicago, April 4): "Please contribute $25 to Marie Curie Radium Fund, from Mr. in memory of Nancy Hanks, mother of Abraham Lincoln."

"LEVY MAYER." That gift would please Nancy Hanks and her mother Lucy, the two women from whom Lincoln got all his power. They would be glad to know that men at last begin to respect woman's mental power.

Somebody should equal Levy Mayer's contribution, in memory of Sarah, Lincoln's stepmother, who helped with his education and titled up his shillings father. If the Marie Curie Fund needs more money, by the way, it need not hesitate to ask Levy Mayer for more. He is the richest lawyer in the world.

"Bad girls increasing here" were the diatribe headline. The virtuous and the philanthropic are aroused. They say "the incoherent girl is on the increase. It is a crying shame that the cities do not provide facilities to meet the problem."

Dentition houses are wanted it seems. This situation is so serious that the good ladies even organize a luncheon. "Among those present, Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb, ex-ambassador Gerard."

What more could you ask, and with the bad girls won't turn good. How would it be to investigate the bad men, for a change? Ex-ambassador Gerard surely knows. Mrs. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb probably know that on a thoroughly bad girl represents the work of half a dozen thoroughly bad men. Why are the men left out? War, profiteering, change of location took from them their self-control and sense of decency, and THEY are responsible for the "bad girls" that grieve the luncheon party.

On the front page of a big newspaper yesterday you might see two pictures. You said: "The two great scientists and Zionists, Einstein and Weizmann; I'll study their faces." But not at all. The two are Professors Wharton and Beckwith. Beckwith killed Wharton, then himself. Professors that kill each other interest some of us more than living scientists that teach. Einstein and Weizmann are on an inside page. That shows where we stand, scientifically.

How old ideas stick. Neither Einstein or Weizmann, good Jews, would leave their ship on Saturday before sundown. Sabbath ends with sundown, and you must do no work, such as carrying valves, and do no travelling in taxis or otherwise on an inside page. Einstein and Weizmann, trained scientists, know well that humanity has long since lost track of the calendar and has not the faintest idea on what day falls the Christian or Jewish Sabbath. They also know that this earth, ruled by the Lord, trembles steadily on Sabbath and every day. Therefore what Einstein says of Newton's law is true of divine law against Sabbath labor: "It does not extend throughout the universe."

Mr. Bedford, chairman of Standard Oil (New Jersey branch) says that in a few years Europe will have one twenty billions instead of fourteen billions, the present debt. Before the war this country usually owed Europe four or five thousand millions. This sounds as though we were rich, but maybe it is deceptive. Dr. Behnen, sold German authority, says that before the war the whole of Europe will regulate all public debt, and he is probably right. We have come to regulate all we shall, for a few moments, be out of debt to Europe—and it will have cost us about fifty billions to even up that balance of four or five billions. Finance is complicated.

Coal Fight Becomes a Contest Between the Government and Miners—King Acts

London, April 4.—Premier Lloyd-George, in opening today's parliamentary emergency session, called by King George as a result of the great coal strike, announced the government had taken the decision of a week prior to the originally appointed date.

He announced that the parliamentary debate on the strike question would begin tomorrow. News of the decision at the coal mines is becoming more frequent every day. The strike has been in progress since the 1st of March, and the government has been unable to secure the coal needed for the war effort.

IN TRAGEDY

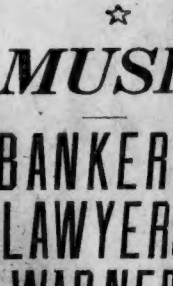

Professor Holmes Beckwith, at top, who shot and killed Dean John H. Wharton (below) of the College of Business Administration at Syracuse University, and then killed himself. In the center is Lillian Lang, who rushed into the dean's office and found the bodies.

Syracuse, N. Y., April 4.—"He was evidently one of those unfortunate men who cannot adjust themselves to the world in which they live."

That was the comment today of Chancellor James Ross of Syracuse University on Professor Holmes Beckwith, head of the department of banking and insurance of the university, who Saturday shot and killed himself.

Told They Will Open Mrs. Stillman's Sealed Letters

Stull Fractured in Battle During Which Woman May Have Been Killed

My International News Service.

Counsel for James A. Stillman, president of the National City Bank, who is suing his wife, Mrs. "Fid" Potter Stillman, for divorce, naming an Indian guide as co-respondent, today pleaded before Justice Morehouse for an extension of time for the banker to start paying the alimony of $50,000 a year set a few days ago by the justice.

The banker's counsel asked that the amount for alimony and counsel fees be paid to Mrs. Stillman in installments, explaining that the banker, although wealthy, would find it extremely difficult to raise such a sum.

At the conclusion of the hearing Justice Morehouse suggested to the counsel for both sides that they all come to him at a private conference in his chambers and try to agree on the form of order to be entered as to alimony and counsel fees.

BANKER'S POLICE MAN LAYERS RETAINED IN BOSTON

Stull Fractured in Battle During Which Woman May Have Been Killed

My International News Service.

Boston's Bank Bay today harked one of the most baffling mysteries with which the police have had to contend in years, as a result of a battle in the home of Dr. Eliza Flagg, No. 199 Commonwealth avenue, between a patrolman George L. W. Reid and Nicholas Forlan, a Symphony Hall musician.

The patrolman is in a serious condition with a fractured skull at the City Hospital, while Forlan, who lives at 284, 115 Hemenway street, is under arrest charged with assault with intent to kill.

The chief feature of the case, according to the police, is the disappearance of a woman who was engaged in an altercation with Forlan, when he was shot.

How About This, Mr. Allen?

John J. Riley, head of a Woburn leather firm and a member of the protective committee of depositors in the Prudential Trust Company, closed SEVEN MONTHS ago, says: "Criminal prosecution should be started against somebody in connection with the crash of the Prudential Trust Company. So far as I can learn somebody is CRIMINALLY RESPONSIBLE for the disappearance of $1,000,000 or more of the funds, yet nothing has been done. I THINK BANK COMMISSIONER ALLEN SHOULD BE SMOKED OUT."

I wrote to Mr. Allen about two weeks after the Prudential closed and asked him if he could give me some information about the bank, and he hasn't answered the letter yet. Courtesy at least would require an answer.

Joseph E. Doherty, chairman of the depositors' committee, says: "We are not satisfied with the way Bank Commissioner Allen and his representative, Attorney Hannigan, have handled this matter. The whole situation looks pretty rotten to us."

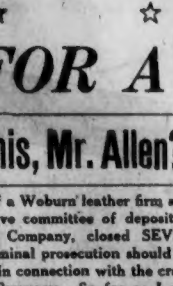

Since last Friday morning Mr. Allen has been considering answers to several questions asked him by the Boston American in regard to the money tied up in the closed trust companies.

Criminal Action in Bank Case Urged

"Criminal prosecution should be started against somebody in connection with the crash of the Prudential Trust Company and I am willing to contribute cash to help prosecute," said John J. Riley of Woburn, head of the leather manufacturing company that bears his name and member of the depositors' protective committee of the closed bank.

Arrest Whole Family as Housebreakers

Manchester, April 4.—Charged with breaking and entering the Charles B. Hanks estate in West Manchester, a family of four persons, three of them females, were arrested. They were Ray Ganglios of Beverly Farms, his wife, Rose, and her sisters, aged eight and ten years old. The children were released. Mrs. Ganglios was armed with a rolling pin, which she admitted was for defensive purposes, she explained that they had removed furnishings worth $500 from a cottage on the estate to sell, as they were short of cash, but insisted they were not burglars.

ADVISED OF LEGAL RIGHT TO ACT

Attorney-General's Opinion Suggests That Bank Commissioner Disclose Names

Attorney-General J. Weston Allen today notified Bank Commissioner Joseph C. Allen of his legal right to make known to the Governor's Council the names of former legislators on unsecured notes in the records of the closed trust companies, without fear of legal entanglements.

At the same time it became known that the special legislative committee, investigating charges of stock speculation in connection with the Prudential Trust Company, was prepared to summon the banker, partner of the Boston Elevated and the Bay State Street Railway.

The opinion of the Attorney-General, issued consistently with the recommendation of the public by the commission, it is believed, along the path for the communication to that committee of the bank commissioner's report. In his opinion, the Attorney-General says that inasmuch as the Governor's Council is authorized to "order" and direct the affairs of the commonwealth, it is necessary that such information as is needed and desired by the Governor's Council be furnished by the commonwealth. "Therefore, advise that you should furnish, on far as you have it, the information requested," were the words.

REDS ARE TO BE FIVE PERSONS DRIVEN FROM MEXICO HURT AS AUTO OVERTURNS

Arrest of American Draft
Dodger Was Made by Order of Obregon

Mexico City, April 4.—President Obregon is determined to rid Mexico of extremists. This is the explanation of the arrest of Linn A. Gale, alleged American draft dodger and proponent of so-called Mexican Bolshevism, who was suddenly and secretly arrested by the Mexican police Friday night and ordered deported as a revolutionist.

It was announced that Gale would be sent to the American border under guard some time today and it is believed he will be apprehended by American authorities.

"Gale was arrested on my personal order," President Obregon said today. "I am determined to stamp out this so-called Bolshevism in Mexico and the extremists I have just started. Other deportations probably will follow soon."

Skidding Car Does a Triple
Somersault Off Middleboro
Turnpike

New Bedford, April 4.—Skidding on a sharp turn on the Middleboro turnpike near Lakeside Park, Brewster, an auto containing five persons forced a triple somersault. Its top was ripped off as it shot between a telegraph pole and its guy wire.

Ralph Radcliffe, his wife Elizabeth, and his twelve-year-old son Frederick, passengers in the car, escaped with bruises.

Daniel McDonald, driver of the car, of No. 7 Silver street, Quincy, and Warren P. Wood, of Platt avenue, North Weymouth, were pinned beneath the front seat. McDonald and Wood were taken to St. Luke's hospital, the former with bruises about the head, and the latter with fractures of the thigh, knee and ankle. Their conditions are regarded as anxious.

NOTED SUFFRAGE LEADER'S SON HANGS SELF

Thomas Hepburn, 15 Years Old,
Uses Sheet for Noose in
New York Garret

New York, April 4.—Some time Saturday night Thomas Hepburn, fifteen-year-old schoolboy of Hartford, Conn., decided to end his life. He hanged himself in the garret room in the home of a friend of his parents, Dr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Hepburn. He left no note explaining the action and no member of his family is able to supply one.

The boy, his father declared today, was perfectly normal, athletic and amiable, although somewhat nervous of temperament. Investigation showed the boy had climbed on a packing case and had thrown a loop knotted about over a beam. Then he tied one end of the improvised rope in a knot springing on the beam and hoisted the other and ground his neck.

But the strip was too long for him to hang with his feet on the floor, so he evidently threw himself forward and let the pressure of his own weight do the work.

The boy, with his sister, had been visiting friends in New York and was to have returned home Sunday. His mother is Katherine Moughlin Hepburn, well known suffrage militant of New England. For years she was president of the Connecticut Women's Suffrage Association until she joined Alice Paul's militant action.

IN WORLD OF ADVENTURE

Nothing transports the imagination quite so much as a tale of adventure. Man is a born adventurer, and the story of his adventures is the most interesting of all. In this series of books, the author has collected a mass of material, and has woven it into a series of tales which are as thrilling as any that have ever been written. The series is published by Doubleday, Page & Company.

There is everything from the wild physical experience of man in the jungle and on the sea to the most intricate and subtle of the types of psychological experience—all in the gripping story of the man who lives and thrives in the world of adventure. The series is published by Doubleday, Page & Company.

They are strangely assorted; many books for many readers. Among the Oriental stories, for example, is that by H. G. Wells, "The Man of the Year," and the story of a young Frenchman, and the story of a man who has been in the world of adventure for many years. The series is published by Doubleday, Page & Company.

Y. M. C. A. BARS BARBAR HERCULES FROM ITS GYMNASIUM

Boxers Declare They Assisted Y. M. C. A. Secure Funds During the War

The Boston Y. M. C. A. gymnastom on Huntington avenue has put up the bars on professional boxers who risked their life in the Great Adventure.

It has refused the use of its special gymnastom to boxers who took part in Y. M. C. A. shows during the war.

Service men are indignant over the ban put on their ladders by the Y. M. C. A. authorities. They intend to take up the matter with the heads of the Y. M. C. A.

Edith Brier, boxing director at Huntington avenue, was told by the Y. M. C. A. gymnastom that she had paid the association and gymnastom dues and had secured a "boxing instruction."

Shevin Refused to Give Resignation

An attendant of the Y. M. C. A. gymnastom who went to Shevin and informed him that his presence in the gymnastom was not desired. He was asked to resign his membership, but refused to do so.

STUFFY McINNIS AND OTHERS

Stuffy McInnis, great first baseman and a fine citizen, held a conference with President Harry Frazer of the Red Sox in regard to playing ball for the Boston club this year.

After trying to drive McInnis into line by threatening a court case, Frazer displayed some of the native intelligence that all men are blessed with at birth and asked McInnis to talk the matter over with him.

This conference will probably result in McInnis agreeing to play for the Red Sox this year. He will not get a $10,000 a year salary, but he will be paid considerably more than the $5,000 he is now receiving.

If trouble makers like Carl Mays were worth $3,000 a year to the Boston club, a quiet, unassuming, brilliant ball player like McInnis is entitled to a whole lot more consideration from Boston than he has received to date.

The Boston owner did not send for McInnis because he wanted to reward the Gloucester man for his services. He did so because without McInnis in the line-up the Red Sox would lose many more games than would otherwise be the case. And a losing ball club does not need a club owner's bank account.

The International Sporting Club finally gets going this week. It will stage a boxing show at the Arena Friday night. The new club should profit by the experience of the Cuylyle Club.

Knockout police and attendants should be on hand to properly handle the great crowd which is sure to storm the St. Botolph street playhouse.

One of the reasons why Tex Rickard has been so successful in staging big boxing shows is that he always has enough employees to care for the spectators. Everybody gets his proper seat, while there is no pushing and crowding in the vicinity of the entrances. It is cheaper to have plenty of experienced attendants than to have a show poorly handled and thus enable a lot of crooks to rob the box office of thousands of dollars.

Al Lippe and K. O. Loughlin will not take part in the International Sporting Club's opening. Nobody is sorry with possibly the exception of the two gentlemen mentioned. They were each suspended thirty days for being party to a questionable bout at Worcester. A six months' suspension would have been more proper.

The law firm of Innes & Tuttle, corporation and legislative lawyers, were unable to have the affair whitewashed. We are glad that Colonel Foote and his colleagues had the courage of their convictions. There is no place in the boxing game for corporation lawyers and political fixers.

FISHER TO TAKE PRECEDENCE OF FIGHTING OF FOOTBALL

Harvard Head Coach Secures Leave of Absence and Will Be With Team All Week

Head Coach Bill Fisher of the Harvard football team is in Cambridge for the entire week and will personally be in charge of practice. The opening week's program saw Fisher at the field only once, but he has obtained a leave of absence from his post in New York. Scrimmages will start next week. And, from Captain Kane, Willie Churchill and the rest of the team, the only veterans out for Spring work.
